...by a dark spirit.

How did

it happen?

A few moons ago, Belos the Elder was sending the Light Fractions out on routine expeditions to explore and chart the deep, ocean waters.

You know those light spirits.
Have to see everything.

Light...
Fractions?

Small teams of light spirits that work under the Elder.

Guards and soldiers, mostly.

Lewa and
her partner, Renga,
were tasked with exploring the gargantuan trenches.

They were farther down than light had ever reached...
...when a large and wild dark spirit unexpectedly emerged from the depths and savagely attacked.

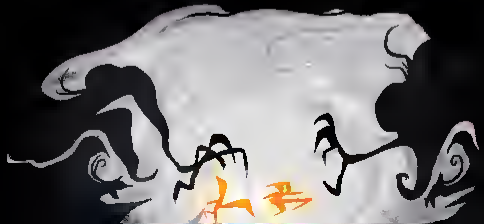
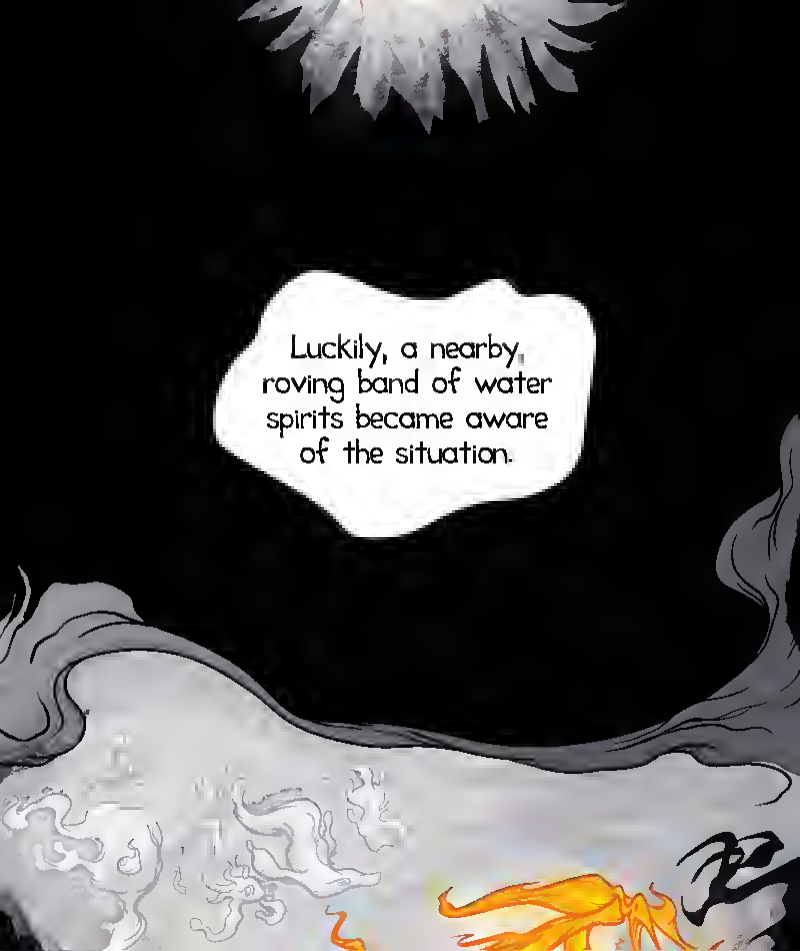
They fought and fought, but the dark beast was too ferocious for just the two of them.





Luckily, a nearby, roving band of water spirits became aware of the situation.

They rapidly rushed ta their rescue...
...but it was already taa late

According to Rengo, Lewa died fighting heroicolly...
...while he barely got out olive.
